March Court.

March court was well attended, the crowd being the largest in many months. Business in all branches was rather slow, merchants reporting a falling off in the volume of business transacted as compared with last court. In view of the rapidly approaching farming season the stock market was flooded with mules and horses, but the demand was very light. A number of good mules were offered and a few sold at prices ranging from $150 to $250. The highest price for a single mule during the day was obtained by T. J. Redmon when he sold to Chas. Thompson, of Lexington, a fine horse mule for $250. Plug horses sold at from $55 to $105.

Clark & McClintock report the following mule sales: To Arthur Hancock, 4 head for $940; Mr. Dawson, of Harrison county, 2 6-year-old mare mules for $380; Joe Botkin, 2 mules for $425; Caywood & Thomason, 1 for $220; George W. Murphy, of Scott county, two head $445; E. J. Welsh one for $225; D. F. Wagner, one mule, $225. Peed & McClintock, of Millersburg, sold to Chas. Thomason, of Lexington, five mules for $255 each.

At the stock pens of M. J. Murphy & Co., about sixty head of yearling cattle were offered. The trading was slow but the entire lot was disposed of at an average of $37.50 per head. Cows sold at from $50 to $95 per head, but there were only a few offered.

Bourbon May Not Have no Court.

It is more than likely there will be no term of the Bourbon Circuit Court, which is scheduled to convene in this city on Monday, March 13, due to the fact that there will be no Judge to sit during the term.

This fact came to notice Saturday when a local attorney received from Judge Robert L. Stout, who is in Clearwater, Fla., for the benefit of his health and recuperating from an attack of typhoid fever contracted here last November, a letter stating he would not be able to preside during the term and that his health had improved very little during his stay in Florida.

At the time the Bourbon Circuit Court should convene, there will be four vacancies on the judicial benches in the state with only two available Judges to fill them, which means that two counties whose Circuit Court terms begin about the middle of the month cannot be supplied with Judges. Since the above was written Circuit Clerk Webb has been in communication with Governor Wilson and was assured a judge to preside at the March term.

Congress Ends; Extra Session Called.

The Sixty-first Congress ended Friday by constitutional limitation. Despite the peril that threatened some of the big appropriation bills almost to the last moments, they all finally dropped through and received the signature of the President.

The last bill signed by the Speaker of the House was the Postoffice Appropriation act. President Taft definitely announced that he would certainly call an extra session for April 4. The close of the session was exciting in both houses. A filibuster in the House killed the tariff board bill, and the Canadian reciprocity died in the Senate.

Electric Lighted Pianos.
In the canal zone it is the custom to keep electric lights burning inside pianos to prevent the wires rusting.

Life of a Metal Pole.
If a metal pole is unprotected when placed in the ground it will rust seriously in about ten years.

Crowded Cities.
Fourteen per cent. of the area of London is free from buildings, while Berlin has ten per cent. free space and Paris 4½ per cent.

A Story of Mathews.
Charles Mathews one day previous to the period of his publicly proclaimed dire bankruptcy invited a friend to dine with him. The waiters were washed down by some rare sherry.

"That's a delicious wine," his friend exclaimed. "It must have cost you a lot of money."
"It didn't cost me anything that I know of," the flighty comedian answered, with a shrug.

"You had it given to you, then?" the friend suggested.
"Oh, no," answered Mathews: "I bought it from Ellis, in Bond street."

"But he will charge you something for it?" the friend exclaimed in astonishment.
"I believe he does write something down in a book," Charles retorted gravely. "Let's have another glass, my boy."

When Tea Was Dear.
Those who grumble at the price of tea should turn for consolation to the records of its price in early times. At its first introduction into England, about the middle of the seventeenth century, tea fetched anything between 25 and 150 a pound, and though a fall in price quickly took place the East India company still had to pay over £1 for the two pounds of tea which it presented the king. However, even thus it is doubtful if the tea merchants got very fat, seeing that the importation of some 4,000 pounds in 1678 was enough to glut the market for some years.—London Chronicle.

English Injustice.
An Australian tourist traveling in the west of Ireland asked an old woman how far it was to the nearest town. She sadly looked at him, then sighed and said:
"It was five nice miles two years ago, but some English brute came over with chalus and made it seven, and our hearts are broke walking it ever since. Bad luck to them!"
And she disappeared into the house, leaving him there.—Illustrated Bits.

Cramp in the Leg.
To those who suffer from cramp in the leg at night the following hint may be useful: When the cramp comes on take a good strong string—a long garter will do—wind it round the leg over the place that is affected and take an end in each hand and give it a sharp pull, one that will hurt a little. Instantly the cramp will depart, and the sufferer can return to bed assured it will not come on again that night.

A Mean Question.
"Yes, it was George's idea to give me a silver spoon for every birthday."
"How many has he given you?"
"Why, twenty-two."
"Why did he stop?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cautious.
"I have a remarkable history," began the lady who looked like a possible client.
"To tell or sell?" inquired the lawyer cautiously.—Washington Herald.

A Dubious Saying.
He—They say that the face is an index of the mind. She—I don't know. It doesn't follow because a woman's face is made up that her mind is.—Boston Transcript.

It Takes Time.
"Has little Mrs. R. consoled herself over her husband's death yet?"
"Oh, no; no yet! You know what a long time these insurance companies take to pay!"

We must not sit down and look for miracles.—Ellot.

Some Climb.
The Transandean railway connecting Valparaiso and Buenos Ayres ascends the mountains 7,415 feet in forty-six miles, an average of about 166 feet to the mile.

Canary Island Soil.
On the Canary Islands the soil is so rich that it is devoted almost exclusively to the cultivation of the vine and fruits and most of the food consumed has to be imported.

Poultry at the Mines.
Owing to the difficulty of securing fresh eggs, most of the mining companies in Mexico have their own poultry yards.

Foretells Dry Weather.
A red sunset foretells dry weather, because it indicates that the air toward the west, from which rains may generally be expected, contains little moisture.

Use Rays of Sun.
Curved mirrors, concentrating the sun's rays upon a point beneath them, constitute a machine being tried out in South Africa to smelt metals directly from the ores.

An Obedient Son.
The prodigal son entered the old homestead through the kitchen window. "Father can't say that I disobeyed him," he soliloquized; "he warned me never again to darken his door and I'm heeding his good advice."

Free Remedy For Weak Bowels

There are two forms of bodily cleanliness, the external and the internal. The one is for your pride in yourself; the other for your life and health. Both are important, but of vastly more importance in the long run is the internal cleanliness.

This is one point that all should watch about their body—the cleanliness of the bowels. Keep them clean and free from obstructions. To do this you must have one or two movements of the bowels each twenty-four hours. If your system does not do this naturally, in the process of eating and drinking, then you must obtain aid of some kind. After finding out that cathartics, salts and such things relieve you for a day, but bind you up worse than ever the next day, then try a simpler and more natural remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

For the skeptical the best way to begin is to send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell for a free sample bottle. Use it as directed and if it convinces you that a brief continuance of its use will relieve you permanently—that it will train the stomach and bowel muscles to again work naturally at certain hours—then buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as so many others are doing. They began with a sample bottle, then bought a fifty cent bottle, and now, fully convinced of its merits, they buy the one dollar family size. All the members of the family can use it down to the very youngest.

A brief use of this grand laxative tonic will cure constipation in its worst form, indigestion, liver trouble, sick headache, sour stomach and such ailments and keep you in continuous good health at a very small cost. Such is the experience of many families like that of Mrs. Oscar Fleener, Unionville, Ind. J. E. Daniel, Saron, Tex., and hundreds of others that could be named.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. TOWER HILL.

A Noted London Spot, the Scams of Many Famous Occurrences.

Tower Hill is perhaps both the most important eminence and the most notable spot in all London. Few of us think what great persons have quietly lived there and what others, equally great, have wept and died upon it.

To it, or rather to Great Tower street, came Rochester to pursue his trade as an Italian fortune teller, while the bedizened Buckingham often walked thither to consult a conjurer, a shrewd, farseeing rogue, who, when Felton bought at the cutler's shop on the summit of the hill for a shilling the knife with which he killed the duke's father, may have known for what purpose it was required.

William Penn was born on this hill in a house close to London wall. Forty-four years later—that is, in A. D. 1685—a poet lay dead, choked by a crust which starvation had urged him to devour too greedily, in an upper room of the Bull tavern. This was the ill fated Otway. At the time when the son of the muses lay dead Betterton, the celebrated founder of the stage after the restoration, was wringing tears from the eyes of the public, not for the vanished dead, but at his own fictitious sorrows in "Venice Preserved."

It was in Great Tower street that Peter the Great used to pass his evenings drinking hot pepper and brandy with his boon companion, Lord Carmarthen.—London Standard.

ATHLETIC DEVOTIONS.

Gymnastic Exercises That Impressed the Kurdish Villagers.

Everything is liable to be misunderstood, even gymnastic exercises. This truth was brought home to George H. Hepworth, and he tells his experience in "Through Armenia on Horseback." The author was stopping in a Kurdish village, and the inn possessed but one general living room.

In the morning I began my regular gymnastics, stooping until my fingers touched the floor, throwing my arms about like the spokes of a wheel, striking out from the shoulder and going through all the exercises, none of which I ever omitted. I would gladly have taken a sponge bath, but it would have been impossible to get enough water. A pint is enough to suffice a Turk.

Well, I got under way with my exercises when I saw that my audience was excited; conversation dropped into a whisper, then ceased; word passed from one to another, and one by one the occupants of the room quietly left. I feared that they were offended and wanted to call them back and apologize. Just then my dragonman entered, laughing.

"What has happened?" I asked. He laughed the harder as he replied: "The Kurds think you are practicing devotional religious exercises, and they retired under the impression that you would regard their presence as an intrusion."

Invisible Indians.

All Indians seem to have learned a wonderful way of walking unseen, making themselves invisible like certain spiders, which, in case of alarm, caused, for example, by a bird alighting on the bush their webs are spread upon, immediately bounce themselves up and down on their elastic threads so rapidly that only a blur is visible. The wild Indian power of escaping observation, even where there is little or no cover to hide in, was probably slowly acquired in hard hunting and fighting lessons while trying to approach game, take enemies by surprise or get safely away when compelled to retreat. And this experience transmitted through many generations seems at length to have become what is vaguely called instinct.—John Muir in Atlantic.

An Elusive Water Lily.

The water lily of the Amazon has very elusive habits. The buds open twice, the first time just a chink at the tip in the early sunrise hours, a sort of premonitory symptom. On the following evening it spreads its four sepals with such alacrity that you can see them move. But the big white bud among them remains unchanged until a o'clock in the morning, when it hurriedly spreads its blossom wide open, remaining in this condition only half an hour. Within the hour it has nearly closed, and by another hour and a half the entire flower has been drawn under water by the coiling of the stalk.

Diamonds.

Diamonds were first brought to Europe from the east, where the mine of Sumblipoor was the first known. Golconda, now in ruins, was once a celebrated diamond mart. The mines of Brazil were discovered in 1728 and for a long time furnished most of the diamonds of commerce. In 1867 diamonds were discovered in Cape Colony, and in 1870 the wonderful finds in the Transvaal were made which resulted in the immense fortunes of the late Cecil Rhodes and others. Most of the diamonds of the world are now furnished by the South African fields.—New York American.

A Crusher.

"Yes, sir," said the trust magnate proudly. "I am the architect of my own fortune."

"Well," rejoined the friendly critic, "all I've got to say is that it's a lucky thing for you there were no building inspectors around when you was constructing it."—Chicago News.

The Honeymoon.

"Mamma, is a honeymoon a vacation?"

"It may be, my dear, and it may be the beginning of a long period of solitude."—Youngstown Telegram.

HONORED THE MONKEY.

Origin of the Coat of Arms of the Earl of Leinster.

Most of the wild animals have a place in heraldry, and many strange and impossible creatures, such as griffins, dragons and unicorns, have been invented as emblems of daring and valor. But the donkey and the monkey have not been so used, except in one instance, where the monkey has been admitted to the ranks of titled nobility. The story of this adoption is told by Mr. Curtis in his book, "One Irish Summer."

On the Leinster coat of arms are three monkeys standing with plain collar and chained; motto, "Crom-a-boo," "To Victory." This is the only coat of arms, I am told, that has ever borne a monkey in the design. It was adopted by John Fitzthomas Fitzgerald in 1316 for romantic reasons.

While this Earl of Leinster was an infant he was in the castle of Woodstock, which is now owned by the Duke of Marlborough. The castle caught fire. In the confusion the child was forgotten, and when the family and servants remembered him and started a search they found the nursery in ruins. But on one of the towers was a gigantic ape, a pet of the family, carefully holding the young earl in his arms. The animal, with extraordinary intelligence, had crawled through the smoke, rescued the baby and carried it to the top of the tower.

When the earl had grown to manhood he discarded the family coat of arms and adopted the monkeys for his crest, and they have been retained to this day. Wherever you find the tomb of a Fitzgerald you will see the monkeys at the feet of the effigy or under the inscription.

SPENDTHRIFT ISABELLA.

A Sight That Checked Her Royal Extravagance For Awhile.

We are accustomed to think that the day is long past when a sovereign could oppress and offend a whole kingdom by personal extravagance. But the late Isabella of Spain belonged in spirit to the sixteenth century. An incident of her reckless career—which ended in the loss of the throne—is noted in Munsey's Magazine.

She spent money, pouring it out like water, at a time when the treasury was nearly bankrupt and when the proverb "Poor as a Spaniard" was far too true. All her best advisers urged her to practice economy. Very few of them succeeded, and these only for a short time.

A certain chamberlain of hers once hit upon a plan to make her realize how enormous were the sums that she was spending. Passing through the hall of the palace, she was surprised to see a vast heap of silver pieces, resembling the contents of a great bin of wheat, but piled up in the middle of the floor. The queen summoned her chamberlain.

"What is the meaning of all this money?" she demanded of him. "Oh," he replied, with a low bow, "this is merely the amount which I have brought out to pay the bill of your majesty's glove-maker."

The queen colored and then laughed, and for several months she was less extravagant in her expenditures for clothes.

E Pluribus Unum.

The country is indebted to John Adams for its national motto, with an Englishman of note sharing in the honor. It seems that while Adams was minister to England Sir John Prestwick, an eminent English antiquary, suggested to him a good motto to represent the union of the American colonies. Adams at once was taken with the idea, which he transmitted to Charles Thompson, the secretary of congress, who on June 20, 1782, reported to that body his design for a government seal. In this the Latin legend "E Pluribus Unum" was to be borne on a ribbon held in the beak of an eagle.

Just where Sir John got the idea is not certain, but it is a fact that the motto was in use on the cover of the Gentleman's Magazine, first published in 1730, and it may have struck his fancy by its applicability to the situation then obtaining in America.

New Zealand's Glaciers.

The great size of the glaciers around Mount Cook, in New Zealand, has been often remarked. The Tasman is eighteen miles long, the Murchison ten miles, the Godley eight miles, the Mueller eight miles and the Hooker seven miles. Most of these glaciers have moraines of exceeding roughness, but the approaches to them are not steep, as is usually the case with European glaciers. The southern Alpine snow line is only a little over 7,000 feet. Glacially polished rocks are rare, and in many ways the mountains are singularly different from those of central Europe.

A Natural Mistake.

"I was just telling my friend here, Molly, that it was storming on the day of our marriage."

"Surely not, Hiram! The weather was perfectly lovely!"

"Well, well! I don't know how I got so mixed up about it; probably because it's been storming ever since!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Fish Story.

"There are as good fish in the sea as were ever taken out of it," remarked Small to Young, who had been refused by Moneybag's daughter.

"Yes, I know. But they are not goldfish."

Circumstances are the rulers of the weak. They are but the instruments of the wise.—Samuel Lover.

FIRST CASE OF STAGE FRIGHT.

"My first experience of stage fright," said Florence Weber, the charming Adelina in "The Climax," "occurred when the company played Lexington, Ky. Previous to going on tour the company rehearsed at Weber's Theatre, New York, and several times during that period the subject of people losing their voices when they least expected it was the topic of conversation among the company, as our play dealt with this subject. Several of them had amusing incidents to relate in this connection, and I boasted that I had never blundered in this respect.

"On our opening night at the Lexington Theatre, I was in a state of nervousness such as I had never before experienced. When it came time for my entrance in the first act, I nerved myself to the ordeal, walked on the stage, and with great difficulty managed to speak my lines. I was on a terrible tension and could not get the words of the stage manager out of my mind. Then came the moment when I was to sing. Mr. Barnett sat down to the piano and began to play, but for the life of me I could not utter a sound. He had played through the entire first verse but try as I would no sound emanated from my throat. All the while the stage manager, who was standing in the wings, kept calling to me, so loud that I am sure the audience must have heard him say, 'Sing, for heaven's sake, sing!' but I was so frightened by this time that singing was out of the question. My understudy, Miss Swain, with great presence of mind, happened to be on the stage at the time and seeing my predicament, walked around back of the scenes until she was opposite the piano and as soon as Mr. Barnett started to play the second time, she picked up the cue and sang the song. Although she was behind the scenes where the audience could not see her her singing gave the effect of coming from my vocal chords.

I realized that she had come to my rescue. After I made my exit, I rushed up to Miss Swain and such hugging and kissing I have never indulged in before or since. I was truly grateful to her.

The "Climax" comes to the Paris Grand tomorrow night.

A Bad Back is Always Worse in the Morning. Paris People Are Finding Relief

A back that aches all day and causes discomfort at night is usually worse in the morning. Makes you feel as if you hadn't slept at all.

Can't cure a bad back until you cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills act on sick kidneys—make you feel better rest better and sleep better.

Permanent cure in Paris prove the merit of Doan's.

Mrs. Laura Law, 1114 Pleasant street, Paris, Ky., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills were of greater benefit to me than any other kidney medicine I ever took and I consider them worthy of the highest endorsement. I believe that kidney trouble was inherited in my case. My back was painful, especially when I stooped or lifted and when I got up in the morning I felt very lame. I was languid and nervous and was subject to severe headaches and dizzy spells. Whenever I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and made my condition worse. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me in a short time and the contents of one box effected a complete cure."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

In Police Court yesterday George Davis and Alfred Bacon, both colored were each assessed a fine of $12.00 for breach of the peace. The negroes became involved in a difficulty at the L. & N. depot Saturday night and were arrested by Patrolman Bishop. A warrant against Alice Howard, charged with breach of the peace was dismissed.

Three Injured in Runaway Accident.

Mrs. Frank Fithian and Miss Fannie Johnson together with the colored driver, James Letton, had a narrow escape from death Saturday when the horse with which the ladies were being driven to the interurban station ran away and in its mad fright dashed over the Second street bridge to the creek below.

The accident occurred about one o'clock. Mrs. Fithian and Miss Johnson were enroute to Lexington to attend the matinee.

The horse took fright when in some manner the driver crossed the lines and in an effort to get them straight Letton leaned over the dashboard. The supposition is he touched the fractious horse with the whip, when it began to rear and plunge.

The animal dashed down the driveway leading from the Fithian home on Houston avenue to the street and seeing the perilous position in which the occupants of the buggy were placed, Letton drew the horse into a telephone post to check his speed and allow the women to get out. By the force of the impact Mrs. Fithian and Miss Johnson were thrown to the ground. The negro boy retained his seat, but was unable to stop the maddened animal. At the intersection of Houston avenue and Second street he attempted to turn out. Second street lines broke and seeing the imminent danger, jumped to save his life. The horse, unable to stop, dashed against the iron railing of the bridge breaching out a section and plunged with the buggy to the creek below, a distance of about forty-five feet, killing it instantly.

Letton was thrown against the iron railing and was picked up in an unconscious condition and removed to his home where he was attended by Dr. Wm. Dudley. No bones were broken but he sustained several severe bruises.

Mrs. Fithian was injured rather painfully by striking the curbing on her back, but fortunately was not seriously hurt while Miss Johnson escaped with a few bruises.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Fair Girl—My father made his fortune when he was a young man. Would you like to know how he did it?

Gallant Youth—Not particularly; but I would like to know if he still has it.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—Think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad thing. So there is no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, of Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's Few Discoveries for thirty years, and it is the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It is the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hayfever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Oberdorfer.

Patient Bravery.

The heroism of the man or woman who patiently endures pain which, while not severe, continues for weeks and months is as much to be commended, perhaps, as the courage of the moment in the case of a bad accident or a severe operation. Every city has its scores of these cases. Every hospital interne could relate stories of patient bravery that are not noticed simply because they are so common.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack like tigers disease germs. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif. "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try Them. 50 cents at Oberdorfer's.

The Milk Tyranny.

As an article of diet milk is over-estimated. Man is the only animal who when grown to be adult drinks milk. The cow herself will not drink it except in rare instances. Many horses refuse it. In the wild, if the grown lion or elephant or fox were disposed to dispute with the younglings for possession of the udder he could prevail and rob the sucklings till the race perished.

Accuse of Stealing.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs cuts, corns, bruises or injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist. Only 25 cents at Oberdorfer's."

Valuable for Its Fur.

The chinchilla is found in the department of Oruro and is much sought after on account of the value of its fur. The Bolivian chinchilla is larger and more valuable than the Chilean variety. It is easily crossed with the bisacha, but the fur is then of much less value.

BURNING OF WIDOWS.

The Horrible Rite India Maintained For Over Twenty Centuries.

The abolition of the horrid rite of widow burning in India was decreed by the British authorities in 1829.

The dreadful practice was found there by the Macedonians under Alexander the Great 300 years before Christ, and for more than twenty-one long, weary centuries did it repeat its almost inconceivable torture and agony upon the women of India. The sacrifice, while not actually forced on the wife, was so strongly insisted on by public opinion that it amounted to a law, and its victims were legion. Scores of widows were often burned upon the funeral pile of a single rajah. In Bengal, the head center of the monstrosity, thousands were sacrificed annually, and the figure for all India was appalling.

The millions of widowed women were completely at the mercy of the remorseless superstition of the times. The ministers of Brahmanism told the widow that her sacrifice was necessary as a means of her own happiness and that of her husband in the future state, and often than otherwise she consented to be burned along with the dead body of her husband. Unless she did this she was covered with the maledictions and curses of the people, was virtually outlawed and unceremoniously cast outside the pale of human sympathy and consideration and had to spend the rest of her days in degradation and wretchedness. It was death on the funeral pile of her husband or a living death of contumely and shame, of loneliness and misery.

The women of India can never discharge their debt of gratitude to England for the abolition of the suttee.—New York American.

ON THE TRAIL.

But He Didn't Know the Kind of Game He Was Tracking.

In the old days a man known as Judge Douglass lived in Helena, Mont. The judge had met with an accident in his youth and had lost both of his legs above the knees. He never would get artificial legs, but had some big leather pads made to fit on the ends of the stumps and walked on them.

Locomotion was slow for the judge, but he managed to cover a good deal of ground and was very fond of walking out on the edge of the town, where he could take his exercise without being the subject of remark from strangers in the city.

One day an Englishman came to Helena to hunt. He had some letters and put up at the Helena club. He stayed around for several days. Finally, after a light fall of snow, he decided to go out into the mountains and get a sheep or a deer or something.

He left early in the morning. When it came night he had not returned. His horse around the club waited until 8 o'clock and then decided to go out and look him up, thinking he might have been lost in one of the gulches or canyons in the hills.

They formed a rescue party and went out to the edge of the town. There they met the Englishman, who was wildly excited.

"Did you get anything?" they asked him.

"No," he replied, "not yet, but I've been tracking an elephant for the last three hours."—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Juries in the Old Days.

In olden times when a jury in England remained impervious to the judge's gentle mode of persuasion fine and imprisonment were resorted to. The jury that acquitted Sir Nicholas Throckmorton was condemned to eight months' imprisonment in addition to the payment of a large sum of money. In the reign of Queen Elizabeth a jury, having reduced a prisoner's alleged crime of murder to that of manslaughter, was at once sent to prison and bound over in a large sum to be of good behavior. Penalties were likewise inflicted upon the innocent wife and children of the offending jurymen.

A Moving Sermon.

"I once had a parishioner who was a miser," said an English clergyman. "For this man's benefit I preached one Sunday a strong sermon on the necessity of charity, of philanthropy—a sermon on the duty and the joy of giving. The miser, at whom I gazed often, seemed impressed.

"Next day I met him on the street. 'Well, John,' I said, 'what do you think of yesterday's sermon?'

"It moved me deeply, sir," he answered. "It brought home to me so strongly the necessity of giving alms that honestly, sir, I've a great mind to turn beggar."

A Boomerang.

"What's the matter with your head?" asked the first bunko man. "A farmer I met today just banged me there with his carpetbag," replied the other.

"It must have been a pretty hard carpetbag."

"Yes; it had a gold brick in it that I sold him yesterday."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Anyhow, They're Gone.

The Old, Old Story.

SURGEONS' FEES.

Pretty Big Sometimes, but Then There Is Another Point of View.

I have a warm spot in my heart for the big American surgeons, says a writer in the New York Telegraph, and because of regular attendance for years at some of the most famous clinics in this and other cities I have been a witness of their unadvised charities—acts of mercy and kindness which were never heard of outside the walls of the hospitals they honor by their services.

I knew a wealthy man whose daughter was suddenly stricken and whose life was saved by the attending surgeon. His fee was $25,000. Straightway the father emitted a wail.

"It's robbery," he said. The surgeon stood firm.

"Your daughter's life is worth $25,000 to you," he countered. There was no denial.

"Well, this fee means that I can operate on fifty persons without any charge, and if you don't like it you can force me to sue, but I will get it without a suit or you will stand a lot of publicity."

And he got the money without recourse to a court of law.

It is safe to mark it down when you see a story of some great surgeon who has charged a high fee that there are many of his patients enjoying good health and relief from pain because he charged them nothing at all.

THE CLANRICARDE PLAQUE.

A Famous Specimen of the Sixteenth Century Goldsmith's Art.

One of the greatest cinquecento jewels in the world is the Clanricarde plaque, owned by Lord Clanricarde, who is known as the "hermit peer" and who claims direct descent from the kings of Connaught. He guards with jealous care this precious example of the goldsmith's art, keeping it safe from possible thieves and the common gaze in a bank vault, to which he goes occasionally with great secrecy to feast his eyes upon its magnificence. Some years ago, by royal request, he lent it to an art exhibition in London, where it was admired and coveted by some of the greatest connoisseurs of Europe.

The huge disk is as delicately wrought as a spider's web and represents the figure of Hercules wielding a diamond sword. The sword blade is composed of a mass of perfectly matched steel white stones, and a superb blue diamond scintillates from the hilt. The present owner inherited it from his mother, who was a Miss Canine before her marriage to the Irish lord, and the plaque is practically priceless. Aside from its value to collectors and its worth as a specimen of rare and exquisite art, it is incrustated with a fortune in jewels.—New York Press.

"Clipping Sunday."

At Painswick, in Gloucestershire, the Sunday following Sept. 8 is called by the curious name of "Clipping Sunday" and connected with a quaint custom. In the churchyard are ninety-nine yew trees, and tradition says that all attempts to complete the hundred by planting another yew have failed because the newcomer invariably dies. Every year before the feast of the Nativity of Our Lady—Sept. 8—these mystic yews are clipped, and the Sunday "in the octave" thus becomes "Clipping Sunday." After service there is a procession of parishioners around the churchyard, and then all join hands and form a ring round the church. Finally they gather at the foot of a flight of steps leading to the chancel door, from which a sermon is preached.—London Chronicle.

City of Three Kings.

Do you know what city has been given the name of the City of Three Kings? It is Cologne, in Germany, and the reason is that it is in Cologne that the three "kings" or "magi" or "wise men," who went to Bethlehem to offer gifts to the infant Jesus are supposed to be buried. According to an ancient legend, their bones were brought from Milan to Cologne by the Emperor Frederick Barbarossa in 1162 and presented to the archbishop of Cologne. Visitors to the cathedral are shown the supposed souls of the magi, studded with diamonds and inscribed with the wise men's names in rubies.—St. James' Gazette.

Her Correction.

Two young women were talking over their restaurant luncheon the other day about the quality of a certain prima donna's voice.

"Oh, she can sing," cried one of them enthusiastically. "She certainly can sing. Music like that would coax Apollo from his lyre."

The other girl flushed and looked troubled. After a slight pause she spoke in gentle reproof.

"I don't want to correct you, dear," she said. "But don't you think that word is usually pronounced 'fair'? It is spelled f-a-i-r, you know."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Disinterested Affection.

"I'm afraid, Edward, you're marrying me only because I've inherited from my uncle 100,000 crowns."

"Why, Blanche, how can you think that of me? Your uncle is nothing to me. I would marry you no matter from whom you inherited the money."—Der Floh.

The Faultfinders.

Mention has been made of a person who, even in heaven, would complain that his cloud was damp and his halo mislaid.—William Winter.

Who serves his country well has no need of ancestors.—Voltaire.

CARBOLIC ACID.

Peculiar Effect Pure Alcohol Has on This Irritant Poison.

One of the most frequent irritant poisons used for suicidal purposes is carbolic acid, and a more agonizing death could not be selected. Why any one should select this poison it is hard to understand unless on account of the fact that it is cheap and easily obtainable. This form of poisoning can usually be easily recognized by the odor, which is well known, and by the white burns or marks on the lips and mouth, which are typical of carbolic acid poisoning.

Send for the nearest physician, and in the meantime, as carbolic acid kills quickly, the first aid treatment must be prompt in order to get results. If possible cause the patient to vomit by giving an emetic, such as ipecac or salt and water, a tablespoonful to a pint of warm water. This, however, frequently fails to work on account of the irritated condition of the mucous membrane of the stomach. One of the best chemical antidotes is epsom salt in solution. Another good chemical antidote is alcohol, the only trouble with this remedy being that it cannot be given in a pure form. It has to be diluted with water and for that reason loses its efficacy.

Just exactly why alcohol counteracts the effect of carbolic acid is not known, but if, for instance, carbolic acid is splashed on the hands and they are at once immersed in absolute alcohol there will be no resulting burn.—Dr. H. H. Hartung in National Magazine.

ROUTED THE SINGER.

Tosti's Encounter With a Persistent and Peppery Stranger.

"Tosti used to tell an amusing little story of feminine persistence," says Harold Simpson in his book, "A Century of English Ballads." It was during one of his busiest mornings, with a long list of singing lessons to be got through, that a knock came at the door of Tosti's flat. His valet was ill, and so Tosti went to the door himself. A lady, a stranger to him, stood on the threshold.

"Signor Tosti?" she inquired.

"Tosti bowed.

"Oh," said the lady, "I am singing your song, 'My Memories,' at Manchester tonight, and I want you to kindly run through it with me."

"Madame," answered Tosti politely, but firmly, "I fear it is impossible. I have two pupils with me now, and a third is waiting in the ante-room, while others will shortly be arriving."

"But you must," the lady persisted. "I am sorry," began Tosti again when he suddenly received a violent push backward and the lady walked into the studio.

"Tosti followed, protesting. After a long argument, which threatened to become heated, the lady snapped out: 'Very well; I shan't sing your song, then!'"

"Madame," said Tosti, taking her by the hand, "I am infinitely obliged to you."

"The lady gave one look at him and fled."

When Lawyers Are Quiet.

One George Wilson, a lawyer, who had much litigation, in some of which he was personally interested as a party or as a trustee, finally passed away, and a short funeral sermon was delivered by a member of the bar in the presence of a few old personal friends. The lawyer told how the old man had been abused and maligned, but that, in fact, he had helped the poor and unfortunate often and was not a bad man.

On returning from the services an old lawyer was asked by another lawyer about the services and what was said. The old lawyer replied, "For once old George could not file a demurrer or motion to any of the proceedings which had taken place."

The lawyer who made the inquiry replied, "Well, this must be the first time George did not move for arrest of judgment."—Green Bag.

Wagner as an Acrobat.

Ferdinand Praeger related an incident of a visit to Wagner at his Swiss home. The two men sat one morning on an ottoman in the drawing room talking over the events of the years. Suddenly Wagner, who was sixty years old, rose and stood on his head upon the ottoman. At that moment Wagner's wife entered. Her surprise and alarm caused her to run to her husband, exclaiming, "Ah, Richard, Richard!" Quickly recovering himself, he assured her that he was sane and wished to show that he could stand on his head at sixty, which was more than Ferdinand could do.

A Hiccough Cure.

A correspondent writes to us to the effect that he has found hanging by the hands with the legs clear of the ground, the hands well apart and the breath held for say fifteen seconds, an infallible cure for hiccoughs. With children, hold them up off the ground by both hands. Our correspondent states that he has never found this method to fail.—London Globe.

Prosaic.

They began their honeymoon trip in the day coach.

"Darling," he murmured, "I can see the coils of love in your eyes."

"Them ain't coils, Jonathan," she said; "them's chlders."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Changed Impressions.

"What has become of that man who talked hard times so vigorously?"

"Oh, we won't hear any more of that from him," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "He's on the other side of the market now."—Washington Star.

Have You Tried It?

There is a bottle of Cardui waiting for you at the drug store. Have you tried it?

If not, we urge you to do so, before your troubles have obtained such a hold on you, that nothing will drive them out.

Even now, it may be nearly too late. But try it anyhow. If anything can help you, Cardui will. It has helped in thousands of cases, where other medicines had been tried in vain. Why should it not do the same for you?

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"My daughter, Octava, would have been in her grave today, had it not been for that fine medicine, Cardui," writes Mrs. Laura Lawrence, of Drennon Springs, Ky.

"Nothing I tried helped my daughter, until she had taken Cardui. I had sent for the doctor, when I thought of your medicine and got a $1 bottle. When she had taken four doses she became all right. I often recommend Cardui to my friends."

Your druggist sells Cardui with full instructions for use on the bottle.

The Missionary Institute which has been in session here for the past week at the Baptist church, closed Sunday night. The Epworth League Conference of the Methodist church will probably meet in Millersburg the third week in June. Rev. T. W. Work is progressing nicely with the dramatic company of which every member is a star. The "Ogling Owls" has now become a topic of daily conversation and as the various members of the company are met on the street, the question is naturally asked "Who are you? What do you play?" The only answer given to the curious is "Come and see." The date for this ever memorable performance is Friday evening April 7. Buy your seats early when they go on sale. Every effort will be made to protect the individual purchaser against the speculator.

The city council in regular meeting Wednesday night granted permits to Ed Miles and Mag Walls, colored, to rebuild their homes destroyed by fire on the morning of November 1, 1910. Mayor Wadell insisted on the council taking immediate action on the electric light question which has practically been pending for a year. A committee was appointed to confer with Judge Dundon in regard to the matter. The marshal was ordered to stop work on all buildings at any time, where permission had not been previously granted by council. Mayor Wadell is to be commended on his action in instituting a move to bring this electric light question to a close. It is understood the difficulties under which the council has labored, but it is hopeful that in the action of Mayor Wadell through the committee appointed by council, the trouble may be speedily adjusted, and the work on the plant pushed to completion.
